John Juliano Republican Candidate For Selectman

JOHN J. JULIANO

John J. Juliano announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the office of Selectman.

He stated that in seeking this office he feels that there now exists a greater need for the administration of good government than ever before in the country. With 17 years of experience in business administration and finance, he feels it is in order to offer his time and energy in any area that would conceivably provide for a better Agawam. He further states that the laws of the Commonwealth are very specific and the implementation of intelligence and common sense within the concept of the law are paramount, therefore, with this background he is confident that he is well qualified to handle the responsibilities of a Selectman and is available to contribute his efforts for the future growth of Agawam.

Connelly Cites Gap Between The People And The Representative

Agawam Selectman Edward W. Connelly, candidate for State Representative for the Ninth Hampden District, serving Agawam and West Springfield Precinct 8, issued the following statement.

"Before the voters go to the polls on Nov. 3, to elect a man to represent them in the General Court of Massachusetts, we shall develop positions on issues facing the Ninth Hampden District in the 'Seventies.' We shall highlight the failures and deficiencies of what we feel has been inadequate, inefficient and unconcerned representation these past two years.

We shall bring to the attention of every citizen in this district that on Feb. 25, 1970, the man who supposedly represented them, Walter T. Kerr, did vote against the peoples petition for a proposed constitutional amendment to reduce the House of Representatives from 240 to 160 members. As your legislator, he therefore denied you your Constitutional right to determine the structure of your government. Article VII of the Massachusetts Bill of Rights is quite specific in that "...the people alone have an incontestable, unalienable and indefeasible right to institute government, and to reform, alter

Selectman Candidate Cincotta

Cites D.P.W. Problem

Stephen R. Cincotta, Democratic nominee for Selectman, today cited an overworked - underpaid staff of D.P.W. workers.

Cincotta stated, "The Dept. of Public Works now has 18 men to maintain the entire Town. The citizens of this Town have a right to ask for services which they have paid for. If, however, we ask 18 men to handle all complaints and requests, the strain on the Department would be overbearing.

"Surrounding communities have drawn more men into this area because the Towns are willing to give these men a higher pay scale. Agawam has been noted as having one of the lowest pay scales in Western Mass.

"As the Town grows in size there is going to be an increase in the demand made upon the (Please Turn To Page 3)

Pamela Jones Democratic Candidate For P.P.R. Board

Mrs. Pamela Jones of 86 Bridge St., announces her candidacy for the Board of Parks, Playground and Recreation. Mrs. Jones brings to the election a background of training and experience.

The mother of a five-year-old daughter, she has found time to work towards the completion of a degree in early childhood education at Westfield State College.

Her qualifying experience includes three summers as a playground supervisor for the Park, Playground and Recreation Dept.

Mrs. Jones stated: "Community recreation should encompass a program designed to make creative use of leisure time, as well as being an informal learning experience. Cultural enrichment programs are a definite part of our times and should be incorporated into the town's atmosphere. Such a program should be flexible enough to appeal to all age levels from the pre-school child to the senior citizen. Provisions should also be made to include activities for the retarded and physically handicapped."

A 1962 graduate of Agawam High School, Mrs. Jones is the former Pamela DeForge. Her husband, William, also actively involved in town recreational programs, is a mathematics teacher in the Springfield School System.

Jerry Sibilis Democratic Candidate For School Board

Jerry Sibilis, candidate for School Committee in Saturday's Democratic caucus today said, "I appeal to the voters of Agawam to consider my candidacy on Saturday because I feel I have the four best reasons for seeking the office. They are, Jerry, Jr., 8; Thomas 7; Lea Ann, 6 and Peter 3.

"Being the father of four active children, three of them attending Phelps School, I care what happens to our school system, I want Agawam to have the I am involved. In costs of schools, I stand for improving our educational system to keep abreast of the times, and foremost in my mind is what we as taxpayers can afford. These two must be balanced. If nominated on Saturday, I promise you the maximum use of all monies allocated for education in this town.

"I feel I must say something about drugs. We can no longer ignore the problem in our community. I am firmly convinced that a drug educational program could be taught in our secondary schools. We could have in service training for teachers and bring in members of the community such as Doctors, Nurses, Probation Officers and Police Officers who could see the problem (Please Turn To Page 6) or totally change the same. . . Since then, and totally missing the point of this unwarranted vote, he has mailed prepared maps and explanations hoping to justify his denial of your Constitutional right for political solvency. We maintain that the explanation of the mechanics of governmental alteration after the voter has been disenfranchised is parallel to a pickpocket explaining why he has just picked your pocket.

There is no doubt in our mind that a tremendous gap does exist between the Representative and the people in our district and its continuance will make for a uniformed electorate subservient to the legislature. The founders of this Commonwealth never intended it to be so.

We ask for your consideration and vote for Edward W. Connelly on Nov. 3, so that the intent of having "our man in Boston" can once again become meaningful.

Community Grange Meets Tuesday

During the lecturer's hour income taxes will be the subject under discussion. Mrs. C. M. Cassidy from the H. and R. Block will be the guest speaker. She will show a short film on the history of taxation in the U.S. and then talk on the 1971 income tax requirements. Liquori Candidate For Planning Board

Citing his wide experience in civil engineering, Anthony Liquori announced that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Planning Board's five-year term.

Liquori stated "That his familiarity with the surveying of land would be of considerable assistance to the planning board" whose primary consideration is the division of property which is subject to the Commonwealth's Subdivision Control Laws.

He also added, "That many of the town's zoning by-laws have remained unchanged since their adoption in 1954 and that the board should amend by deletion or revision those sections which are ambiguous or outdated."

A life-long resident of the community, Liquori graduated from Agawam High School and continued his education at the University of Massachusetts.

Liquori, his wife the former Irene Banel, and their two children reside at 658 Cooper St.

School Board Candidate Fontana Urges Stronger Teacher Support

Alfred "Junie" Fontana, candidate for School Committee in the Democratic caucus Oct. 17, stated recently that the committee should strongly support its teachers.

"I firmly believe in backing our teachers," said Fontana. "People are beginning to realize that when power is taken away from servants such as teachers or police, then students and the public get out of hand. If teachers are weak, then kids will rebel. If they're strong, they'll gain respect. But to be strong, a teacher needs support. That support should come from the School Committee."

The 37-year-old Fontana is presently chairman of the cemetery commission and has served the town as a public servant for 10 years. He has been on the Parks and Recreation Committee and is a town meeting member.

Fontana was graduated from Agawam High School in 1952. He was appointed to the Agawam Fire Department in 1957 and is in his 14th year as a fire fighter. He also has been a special police officer for 16 years and for the past two years also has served the town as a constable.

Fontana has a particularly sparkling athletic background. After starring in football and baseball in high school, he turned to hockey upon graduation, playing the sport in Europe for two years.

He turned professional in 1954, played with both the New Haven Blades and Philadelphia Ramblers of the Eastern Hockey League and has been a linesman in the American Hockey League for 10 years having worked several Springfield Kings' games.

Also a football official, he referees high school games and recently was named referee-in-chief of the town's newly-formed Harmon A. Smith Tackle Football League for boys 10-13.

Fontana was a member of Agawam High's 1952 football team which defeated Richmond Academy for the Peanut Bowl championship.

He also owned and operated Fontana Sporting Goods Store for five years.

Fontana resides at 236 James St., Feeding Hills.

Wolfgang Mozart played several musical instruments well and composed a number of short pieces of music by the time he had reached the age of five.

three months each this year investigating public education expenditures, practices and policies.
"We developed a 40,000-word report to the Governor and Education Commissioner Neil V. Sullivan which contained 105 specific recommendations and two technical manuals to help guide local school officials in sound purchasing methods and the design and operation of efficient school transportation systems," Locke said.

He said simple arithmetic demonstrated a potential savings to the Town on its educational costs of up to $300,000 based on implementation of the state-wide report's findings.

"Business management techniques must be afforded the same stature and concern that is paid to curriculum and instruction in our schools," he said, "and it is on this basis that I believe I can make an important contribution not only to our educational system, but to our overall involvement as citizens in terms of the application of tax dollars."

Locke, a 1951 graduate of Boston University, has been an Agawam resident since 1957.

A registered Independent, he said he has been endorsed by the Republican Town Committee.

Details of the study which his committee undertook for the Massachusetts Advisory Council on Education, he said, would be released during his campaign.

"I am not working for this post to achieve an upheaval in our school system," Locke said, "but to apply my utmost efforts to determine that we are doing the best possible job with the highest possible cost-effectiveness."

Locke served in the South Pacific with the U.S. Navy during World War II; he came to WMECO from Remington Rand, Inc. in 1956, where he managed systems and microfilm services throughout New England.

He is married to the former Yvette Carbonneau of Pawtucket, R.I. The couple has six children: Richard, a senior at Syracuse University's Utica College; Cynthia, a customer relations representative for United Air Lines in New York City; Judith, a sophomore at Framingham College; Thomas, a junior and Jeffrey, a freshman, at Agawam High School; and Kim in the 8th grade at the Junior High.

John Juliano ...

Mr. Juliano has a Bachelor's degree in Industrial Engineering and a Masters in Business Administration from Western New England College. He is employed by Monsanto Company, Birmah Bend Plant as Supervisor of Cost Accounting.

He is currently serving his second term as President of the Benjamin Phelps P.T.A. and has been a member of the National Chemical Credit Association and the National Association of Credit Management.

He is a homeowner and has been a resident of Agawam for the past 14 years and resides at 232 Meadow Street. He is married to the former Rosemarie T. Baggetta of Agawam. They have four children.
